

Don't lift restrictions on cross-ownership. We need more time and certainly more public participation on this question. This is a bad idea which would only make the media even less independent than it is today.